

Changing Lives.

InJoy - Changing Lives.

Verse-1

Imagine I could be a billionaire
Own an empire of huge worth
I'd never have to care bout what to wear
Coz I'd have a big room filled with clothes

Or if I'd be a womanizer
A fantastic looking heartthrob
The night'd be my day and no girl'd refuse to stay
Could someone have a better job?

PreChorus

In earlier days I often caught myself
Wishing for a temporary change of life
But little did I know
That the life that fits me best is my own

Chorus

If I could change life with someone else
I doubt that I could be my own fan
Even if I could be someone else
I'm thankful to be who I am

Verse-2

Of course it might be awesome, to be very rich
You could do things all of which Average guys can only think of, dream of
And all your friends would be jealous of
You'd have a house on a hill
And a view that makes you chill
And others kill for, coz you've got everything
A life that could be taken out of a film
But if you think such a life is problem-free
Gee - in the best case you just switch them
Most probably you'll get a bunch more of them
Can't handle them - and I tell you, after a few days
You're sick of the celeb-game and quit the play
Walk away, don't want to stay in that life
That you believed to be the best drive
So enjoy all your days, for that's your life!

PreChorus

In earlier days I often caught myself
Wishing for a temporary change of life
But for me there's no doubt
That the life that fits me best is my own

Chorus 4x
