

Yellow Converse.

InJoy - Changing Lives.

Verse-1

Last night I went to bed and I knew
That it was the day I met the one
What happened that day I'm sure was true
Downtown, that's where all begun

Stood at the station, waiting for my train
I just stared at the ground
When I saw sunshine even though there was rain
Her shoes were different and kept me bound

Chorus

They were different, so different - she was wearing yellow converse
And she was smiling, a cute smiling - as bright as her yellow converse
Oh-oh-oh she was wearing - yellow converse
Oh-oh-oh I loved those - yellow converse

Verse-2

Train comes, a little bit too late
I stepped in, sad to leave the scene
But there she was, it must have be fate
I stared at beauty, as never seen

The next station came in the wink of an eye
That's when she got out
Why so soon, why oh why
I saw her vanish in the crowd

Chorus

Bridge

While I was reminiscing, thinking of my loss
A person took a seat, right across
I couldn't help I had to slowly lift my head
Her shoes, oh it was the greatest luck I've ever had

Chorus 2x
